Benedict, the three first named representing the New York Bar association, appeared before the house committee on judiciary to-day, and gave their views respecting salaries of United States district and circuit judges of New York city.

Mr. Jones urged the necessity of increasing the salaries of the judges of the courts named, on the ground that expenses of living were so great in New York that salaries commensurate with a judge's position should be fixed.

A series of resolutions by Mr. Chandler, calling for information as to contracts, expenditures, delays, etc., in connection with the construction of new naval vessels were taken up and adopted with an amendment by Mr. Butler, extending the inquiry to January 1, 1880, instead of March 4, 1885.

The senate then resumed consideration of the urgency deficiency appropriation bill.

Skated on Thin Ice.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Monday afternoon Miss Cox, Mrs. Padelford and Mrs. Ordway, accompanied by Count Greggory, of the Russian legation; Dr. Dickson, of the navy and Mr. Richard Peters, made up a skating party. Off the navy yard on the Potomac the ice was believed to be strong enough to bear the skaters. All but Mrs. Ordway started out on the ice.

When about a mile from the shore the sound broke through the ice, where the river is sixty feet deep. Almost instantly the ice cracked again, and Dr. Dickson disappeared. Mr. Peters hurried to the rescue, and he, too, fell in the river. Mrs. Ordway, who was watching the party, fainted. Several sailors from the navy yard went to the rescue, and after five of them had a bath all hands were safely landed on shore. The prominence of all the parties concerned has made the episode the social topic of the day.

The New Ice Palace at St. Paul Formally Opened.

THE ST. PAUL ICE PALACE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 26.—The hotels are all full for the opening of the third winter carnival here this afternoon, and with fine, mild weather and the elaborate program prepared, the outlook for ten days of frosty frolic is most favorable. Preparations are much better advanced than at either previous opening.

The ice palace was finished Saturday; the ice statuary, of which there will be many fine groups, is well on toward completion; some seven thousand street lamps are in place; the clubs have been drilling for weeks; the Indians are camped around the palace; the cable cars are running, and the floats are ready.

The ice palace stands on the same site as in former years, Central park, and occupies a space of 200 feet square, and rises to a height of 130 feet. No timbers or supports of any kind are used, the only material being ice. It is built in the Medieval style, and has a profusion of towers, keeps, bastions and surrata. In its building upwards of 60,000,000 pounds of ice have been used. The general appearance of the palace is at once majestic and ethereal, and, when lit up by thousands of electric globes of various colors, will present a beautiful appearance.

This afternoon his imperial highness, Duran Borealis, rex, will receive the golden keys and enter into possession. The pageant attending the reception and installation of the ice king will be one of unusual magnificence, several thousand uniformed subjects of his majesty taking part.

COLLIERY EXPLOSION.

Horrible Fate of Fifty-Seven Miners at Victoria, B. C.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 26.—An explosion occurred in No. 5 pit of the Wellington collieries yesterday morning, by which over fifty lives were lost. A dense mass of dust and smoke shot into the air. The noise of the explosion was similar to the report of a large cannon. The fan house was destroyed, also the woodwork in the shaft. The fan house was quickly repaired and the fan started.

The shaft timbers were so badly damaged that the cages could not be used, but ropes were immediately lowered. The first miner to come out of the pit had climbed by means of the cage wire cable to within one hundred feet of the top. A rope was then lowered to him, and he reached the surface exhausted. A second miner was also rescued by this method, but the third when within fifty feet of the top suddenly relaxed his hold and fell to the bottom of the pit. Two men were then lowered as a searching party. They returned, and stated that nothing could be heard but calls from below.

Fortunately the mine had not taken fire. A temporary cage was made and lowered to a considerable depth, the miners climbing to it by means of ladders, so that 103 of the 106 miners were rescued. The unfortunate who had fallen back into the pit was taken out dead. The explosion took place in the last level, and in this twenty-five white miners and a number of Chinese were imprisoned.

At 5 a. m. all the white men who were at work were carried out dead, and the taking out of Chinese began.

He had evidently been lying there for some time. His son, Dr. A. E. Heighway, Jr., was so shocked by his father's death that he was taken ill and had to be removed to his home next door.

REIGN OF TERROR IN CUBA

CITIZENS OF HAVANA MURDERED, ROBBED AND KIDNAPED.

The Officials Plunder the Treasury of Fifty Thousand Dollars and Suppress Out-Spoken Newspapers—Fresh Cause for Alarm Increasing Hourly.

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 26.—During the last ten days Havana has been in a turmoil and on the verge of mob violence. The trouble was caused by the unscrupulous acts of Captain General Marin and his officials. Although Marin has been in office three months, his administration is reeking with crime.

The government tax is short $50,000, the local board of aldermen have gobbled $40,000, the Cardenas tax office is short $10,000, and every office of trust is honey-combed with fraud. Two weeks ago the indignant citizens made vain appeals to Marin for protection. A mass meeting was held, but Marin ordered armed guards about the gathering and prevented the speakers from addressing the people.

A MESSENGER'S VERSION.

A Postmistress Also Tells What She Knows About Hopkins and the Fidelity.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26.—Attorney Bateman read the testimony of Briggs Swift to the jury in the Hopkins case this morning. It was the same as used in the Harper trial.

James A. Bryan, a colored man, formerly Fidelity messenger, testified that he copied letters in the afternoons in a book kept by Harper. He was in the bank on June 14 until 6 a. m. His desk was about twenty-five feet from Miss Holmes'. Harper and Miss Holmes gave him the letter to copy. He never saw Hopkins dictating letters to Miss Holmes; in fact, he had very little to say to her. Never saw Hopkins have anything to do with the books of the bank.

Miss Ada Nixon, postmistress at Ludlow, Ky., was called, and a sprightly little lady, bright-eyed and rosy-cheeked, took the stand. She was formerly employed as assistant correspondent in the Fidelity. She never saw Hopkins dictating letters to Miss Holmes. When asked concerning Miss Holmes' movements in the bank, witness, with a toss of her head, said she paid no attention to her.

Josie Will Go Free.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 26.—It is authoritatively stated here that Josie Holmes will be set at liberty upon the conclusion of the Hopkins trial.

Pennsylvania Company's Troubles.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 26.—All of the superintendents of divisions and branches of the Pennsylvania lines, between Pittsburgh and Chicago, are in consultation with General Manager Baldwin, at the general office of the company in this city to-day. The meeting is held for the purpose of determining the nature and extent of concessions to be granted to the demands of their employees.

"Extraordinary care will be taken," said an official this morning, "to effect permanent satisfaction to all concerned, and by this means remove all possibilities of future trouble. Notwithstanding the denials from General Manager Pugh, of Philadelphia, and Superintendent Robert Pitoain, of this city, the Brotherhood of Brakemen on the Pennsylvania railroad's middle and Pittsburgh divisions, reaffirm that their demand for increased wages and other concessions have been placed in the hands of the general manager by a special committee. A brotherhood official states this morning that the Pennsylvania railroad will have to come to terms as has the Pennsylvania company."

Probable Murder at Huntington, Ind.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Jan. 26.—Yesterday at noon Charles Pfeiffer entered the saloon kept by William G. Morse, and asked for Morse. He was told that Morse was sleeping, and going to an alcove where the man was in bed he aroused him, slapped in the face and applied an opprobrious epithet. Pfeiffer stepped behind the bar and picked up a glass to throw at him, when Pfeiffer drew a revolver and fired, the shot entering just below the heart and ranging downward. Pfeiffer walked out and gave himself up. Morse is in a critical condition and will probably die. Pfeiffer formerly clerked for Morse, and the two had had trouble. Pfeiffer came here from Connerville, Ind., a couple of years ago and has a family.

Returned From Canada.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 26.—E. C. W. Keefer, the Allegheny insurance agent, who suddenly left the city and was next heard from in Canada about two months ago, about whose disappearance and business liabilities so much was said at the time, has returned to the city. Mr. Keefer explains his absence by stating that he found it necessary to temporarily seek refuge from the unreasonable and persistent officials of the insurance companies he represented, who demanded of him a cold spot cash settlement at a time when he was unable to comply. He has now settled with all creditors and proposes again entering business. He denies having owed any money to an organization in which he was treasurer.

Mysterious Disappearance.

PORSCHE, O., Jan. 26.—Following closely upon the flight of George Lietz, the disappearing treasurer of the German Presbyterian church, is the disappearance of Tom M. McBride. His wife and children are distressed with grief, and fears of suicide are entertained. He is thirty-eight years of age, lately taught school at Mount Joy, this county, but has for some time been out of employment.

FIRST STEP TOWARD FAME.

How Gen. Grant Drilled His First Volunteer Company.

Mr. Wallace Pringle, an attorney of Indianapolis, was a member of the first military company organized in Illinois after Sumter was fired on. This was the first company which Gen. U. S. Grant prepared for service in the field. Mr. Pringle tells an interesting story of the great captain's relations with Company F, Twelfth Illinois infantry. "The day after Fort Sumter was fired on the young men of Galena," says Mr. Pringle, "met to organize a military company. Excitement was at fever pitch. At first call five of us stepped forward and enlisted. I was not 17 years old, but I was strong and full of fight. In a few minutes the full company number was enlisted. We were as green as country boys ever got to be, but we were patriotic. None of us knew a single military movement. We couldn't form a straight line.

"It was suggested that we go down to Capt. Grant, whom we knew as a West Point graduate, and ask him to become captain of the company and put us through the necessary preparations. We went to his house in a body and called him out. Of course he was willing to serve us, and we were put into the drill at once—four hours a day. Meantime the citizens procured us uniforms. We had no guns, and were obliged to go through the manual without arms, but we were soon ready to go to Springfield. Gen. Grant knew us all personally, but he made us work like Turks, just the same, and the result was that we were quite soldierly in bearing when we embarked for the capital.

"Everybody in town that could walk came down to the train to see us off. That night we missed connections at Decatur, and had to lie over six hours. The boys began to scatter, and Gen. Grant, seeing that they would fall into the hands of the Philistines, called us together on the common, and for six mortal hours kept us going through the manual. He held us together by so doing, and the entire town came out to see us drill. We finally reached Springfield, and were presented to the governor with a flourish, by one of the company who was oratorically gifted. The governor said it was the best looking company that had offered its services, and he was so much taken with our drill master, Gen. Grant, that he took him from us and made him a member of his staff. This was our first experience with the great commander."—Chicago Tribune.

The Immortal Texan.

Sam Houston was not rendered so cynical by his first unfortunate venture as to render him unfit for married life, as his more than fifty years of unalloyed happiness in that relation amply demonstrates. He not only married after becoming a citizen of the republic of Texas, but was a devoted husband and a judicious father, dying in the midst of his family in 1862. One of his sons inherited a considerable share of the father's sturdiness and talents.

To illustrate Houston's devotion to his second and real wife, the following incident was related to the writer of this by an old Washington habitue and journalist, who knew him well during his senatorship—1845-59. Houston was known to be intensely fond of amusements, but no friends could induce him to attend the theatre, circus or a public ball. Being rallied on his "Puritanism" by Mr. Clay, the old hero of San Jacinto quietly replied: "I am not personally of opinion that there is anything wrong in those recreations; but my wife is a deeply religious woman; she is most strenuously opposed to the theatre, etc., and though she has never even hinted that she would rather I should avoid such places, yet, knowing her sentiments, I think my foregoing so momentary a pleasure but a small cross for me to bear to insure her more perfect happiness."—Chattanooga Times.

McGregor, of the Canton Democ. and T. E. Brown, of the Springfield Republic. Reports showed the association to be in a prosperous and profitable condition. The annual meeting of the Ohio Associated Press company was also held yesterday, and the old board of directors and officers were re-elected.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Jan. 26.—It has been announced by the Knights of Labor that individual colliers may resume work at 8 per cent. above basis, providing they give the Reading system as small an amount of tonnage as possible. ### A Bad Managed Government.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Dispatches from Winnipeg, published this morning, declare that the deficit in the accounts of the late government is now found to reach over $500,000. It is alleged that for the sixteen months from September, 1885, to January, 1887, not a single entry was made in the cash books of the provincial treasurer.

Starving Indians.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—A special to the Post from Edmonton, B. C., says the Paitaqua Indians, whose reservation is just north of Victoria, are threatening to plunder the government stores at the latter place. They are in danger of starving, owing to the failure of contractors to furnish supplies.

MASON COUNTY SCHOOLS.

Notes and Comments by Superintendent Galbraith on the Teachers, Pupils and Buildings.

NO. 53, SUMMIT.

Pupils on census report, 60; number on roll, 39; average attendance, 25.

Maudie Dimmitt, Ralph Dimmitt, Thomas Dimmitt, Addison White, Jno. Russell, Minnie Wells, Sadie Hickey, Blanche Wise, Mary Russell and Katie Russell have lost no time.

The school house is very indifferent. The trustees, Wm. Case, N. W. Oridge and George Wells, have visited the school. Several of the patrons have visited the school, but their names are not reported.

Miss Mary Hickey is teaching this school. She is a very careful and painstaking teacher, and her classes acquitted themselves in a manner very complimentary to her. She uses written work in most of her classes; and I am glad to add that she gives special attention to composition and letter writing. Teachers will find this a rich field, and especially in letter writing, they will reap a bounteous return for their work. We need more teaching on this subject.

NO. 38, ASH RIDGE.

Pupils on census report, 33; number on roll, 12; average attendance, 11. The house and all of its appointments are comfortable.

The trustees are Charles Smoot, John Boulden and Garrett Donovan. Mr. Boulden has visited the school. Of the patrons, Mrs. G. Donovan, Miss Ella Reynolds and Miss Julia Worthington have visited the school.

Miss Jacova C. Bacon is teaching this school. She is a very careful and successful teacher, and though her school is not as large as some, I found it in good working order, and the classes showed first-class training. Miss Bacon uses written work, and her classes in grammar merit special mention. These are required to diagram the sentences for verbal analysis, and to write the parsing. This requires careful and accurate study on the part of the pupils, as well as an understanding of their recitations. Miss Bacon writes: "I think my classes have done very nicely, although I have never yet felt perfectly satisfied with my school work." A good report.

The Poor Little Ones.

We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores of the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing period, children have need of pure blood by which to build up strong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given, the blood is purged of its bad elements, and the child's development will be healthy, and as it should be. Scrofulous diseases, rickets, fevers, sores, hip-joint disease or other grave maladies and suffering are sure to result from neglect and lack of proper attention to such cases.

Mr. C. T. Anderson is a skillful bus driver and has made some big trips during the present season. Friday last he had on top fifteen hundred pounds of freight, three barrels of flour and ten passengers out and in. His descent of Ireland's and Shannon hills was perilous and exciting.

The C. P. and E. Club, after a series of delightful weekly meetings, has adjourned sine die. It will be succeeded by a leap year party run by the prettiest girls in the neighborhood. Let every unmarried man prepare to defend himself.

OBITUARY.

Died, Saturday, January 21, 1888, at 9 a. m., at his home No. 72 E. Third street, Cincinnati, O. Thomas Fitzgerald, the immediate cause of death being Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Thomas Fitzgerald was born just below Maysville at what was once known as Pluggtown, and at the time of his death was in his thirty-third year. After receiving an education in the Catholic school at Maysville, he learned the shoemaking trade under Mr. Allen Wright, in business on Second street opposite Washington Hall. After serving his time he removed to Cincinnati, and for a short time was connected with a shoe manufacturing firm, but finding that close confinement did not agree with him he sought other employment, and obtained a situation with Isaac Frieberg & Bro., liquor dealers. By close attention to business and honest, straightforward conduct he soon won the confidence of his employer, and was given full control of their shipping and commissary interests. His employers speak of him with the highest praise, both as an employee and as an exemplary young man, and one to be trusted in all business connections.

About six years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Katie Moore, an estimable young lady of this city. As a husband and father he was kind and loving, spending all his time when not at his place of business, in their society, having many friends in life.

His wife and two children survive him, one a boy three and one-half years old, and a girl baby aged six months. Their second child, a boy, died about a year ago.

In religious belief, Mr. Fitzgerald was a devoted Catholic, and died in full communion with, and a firm believer in that church.

His father and mother were present during his last moments. His death was peaceful, and his last words showed that he was prepared to die, and didn't fear to meet his God.

With his death will bring sorrow to the hearts of wife, father, mother and sisters, they should find condolence in the fact that the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, and that whatsoever the Lord doeth is always for the best.

Thomas Fitzgerald's worldly troubles are over, and his spirit has ascended to that realm above where all is love and life everlasting.

THAT TROUBLE IN SPAIN.

MORE ABOUT THE DIFFICULTY ON THE PENINSULA.

Don Carlos Again an Object of Interest, He Claiming to Be the Rightful King of France and Spain—Scheme of the German Government—Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The expulsion of Queen Isabella of Spain from the peninsula has called attention to the fact that the enemies of the queen regent and the infant king have been by no means inactive of late, although events of more importance in other quarters have drawn attention elsewhere. The wife of the late Spanish monarch has never been popular with the lower classes, her detestation of bull fights and other cosas de espana having been undisguised, while the church party has supported as openly as it dared the claims of Don Carlos, who made such a gallant fight a dozen years ago for the throne of his ancestors.

His failure in that attempt exhausted his resources, and without the sinews of war to renew the attempt the dashing Bourbon subsided into a very harmless individual and his supporters and admirers dwindled into a small following. The death of his aunt, the late Comtesse De Chambord, put him on his legs again, financially speaking, her immense fortune having been bequeathed to him, and of course Don Carlos has become again an object of interest to the intriguers by profession, and the restless spirits who are never contented with the affairs as they exist.

He has even a sort of spectral claim to the throne of France, which he modestly acknowledges should be his by right, although he will refrain from urging it, contenting himself with the sovereignty over the Spanish people, whom he loves so much, and who, he has no doubt, will at no distant day call upon him to rule over them.

A deputation of the French Legitimists, who have never recognized the claims to succession of the Orleanist branch, waited upon Don Carlos in Venice the other day and hailed him as the heir of the long line of French kings, and in fact the rightful king of France, as well as of Spain, under the Seline law, conferring the succession upon the male line.

Of course Don Carlos knows he has as much chance of becoming monarch of Abyssinia as ruler of France, but in response to their assurance that they await in confidence the day upon which the admirable labor of restoration of the Christian monarchy commenced by the Comte de Chambord shall be finished by one of his legitimate successors, he thanked them for their homage and fidelity and cheerfully acknowledged, as the oldest of the Bourbon family, the French throne belonged to him.

This done he patriotically said that he should never desert Spain, endeared to him by the waves of generous blood shed under his eyes, but it was his duty to reserve all the rights belonging to his family. The Comte De Audigne, former secretary of the Comte De Chambord and the mouth piece of the deputation, interprets this to mean that Don Carlos intends to relinquish his claims to the French throne to his son, now aged seventeen years, who will at the proper time rally around the white flag the defenders of social order and Christianity.
